Dr. A. Harris Meets Chamber Executive On Agrologist Act

Arriving by plane from Vancouver on Tuesday evening, Dr. Allan Harris of the faculty of agriculture of the University of B.C., met the executive of the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce and discussed the proposed Agrologist Act, which the Chamber has gone on record as being opposed to. After a two-hour conference Dr. Harris, who was accompanied by J. J. Woods, chairman of the Council of the Institute of Agrologists, left for Vancouver the same evening.

Stating that he was speaking as an individual and not as a professor at the University, Dr. Harris urged that opposition to the Act be removed. His appeal was made in two parts. The first urged that support be given to agriculture at large by support of the proposed Act which would professionalize agrologists.

"Unless other inducements are offered poor or indifferent students only will enter the agricultural field," he said. He pointed to the keen competition offered other students, in engineering, medicine and other professions, protected fields with higher pay.

"Agriculture in B.C. can only progress through better trained men," he said.

The second point to be made by Dr. Harris was one, he said, which more properly came under the business to be discussed by the Chamber. He told of a survey he had made of the strawberries grown on the Saanich Peninsula. "Your strawberries are the best in the world," he said. "I know that that sounds like a strong statement, nevertheless it is true."

He explained that at a conference in Cleveland, U.S.A., strawberries were discussed. At that time their vitamin C content was of greater interest to American growers, the vitamin was lacking in American diets. It was shown that in average American fruit 60 milligrams of vitamin C was contained in 100 grams of fruit.

"When I returned to B.C.," said Dr. Harris, "I was amazed to learn that the average vitamin C content of B.C. strawberries was 81 milligrams to the 100 grams of fruit, and the Saanich fruit contained 101 milligrams."

He suggested that this fact would be of value to the Chamber for publicity purposes.

The speaker made a strong plea that agrologists and the Chamber pull together. "Our only concern is for the betterment of agriculture in the province," he said.

J. C. Anderson, chairman of the Chamber, assured Dr. Harris that the Chamber did not wish to oppose the betterment of agriculture, but was against the proposed Agrologist Act as it now stood.

C. R. Wilson, chairman of the Division of Agriculture of the Chamber stated that the penalty clauses in the proposed act would "confine the field to a favored few."

He urged that the clauses be removed.

"We are also professional men on our farms," he said. "We want the privilege of hiring anyone we like, after all, we pay the price, and should not be bound," he said.

He made a strong plea that the proposed act be fashioned after that pertaining to the B.C. Music Teachers' profession. "Make the requirements as high as you like," he said. "But let it not be compulsory to join." Capt. Wilson claimed that the proposed act pertaining to Agrologists went far beyond other acts in compulsion and penalty clauses.

The ideal type of progressive agriculturist was a combination of practical farmer and scientist, he claimed, a man who loved the soil. "If you separate the two, we are lost," he said.

Dr. Harris stated that the era was one of fast progress. He claimed that by removing the penalty clauses from the proposed act, the progress of agriculture at large would be retarded in the province.

Following his address and conference the executive again endorsed the original objection to the proposed act as outlined by the Agricultural Division of the Chamber, and endorsed the work of that division.

MRS. J. STOREY DIES AT HOME

Death claimed Mrs. J. Storey on Monday afternoon at her residence, 1041 Sixth St., after nine months of illness.

A resident in Sidney for 37 years, Mrs. Storey was 70 years of age. She leaves her husband, a brother in Honolulu, and a nephew in U.S.A.

Born in Yorkshire, England, she was a graduate nurse, and was one of the 11 nurses imprisoned in South Africa during the South African war. An active worker for Red Cross she took an interest in all community affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Storey's only son, Boden, was killed in a marine accident in Prince Rupert some years ago.

Some years ago Mrs. Storey established a candy business in Sidney, this was discontinued a few years ago due to ill health.

Her husband, James Storey, has been a resident in Sidney for 42 years, and has been in business here for 11 years.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Jet Planes Based Here?

Possibility that the new jet aircraft Canada has ordered will be based at Patricia Bay Air Station was expressed in Ottawa last week.

While Minister of Defence Claxton made no mention of where the new planes would be based, it was recently announced that under the new R.C.A.F. reorganization plans, Canada will have a two-squadron interceptor wing based at Patricia Bay.

It is also understood these two squadrons, Nos. 410 and 415, will be equipped with the new "jets."

FIRE BRIGADE TEST HOSPITAL MOBILE PUMP

Sidney Fire Brigade tested the portable fire pump on Thursday evening which was offered for their use last week by H. A. Munson, manager of Rest Haven hospital.

The pump tests at 500 gallon a minute, and was found to be in excellent condition.

The unit will be of service to existing equipment, said brigade heads, in that it will be a valuable reserve should two fires break out at the same time. At present, with only one truck unit, if a call is turned in from an outlying district, other centres are unprotected.

"There is only one fly in the ointment as far as the Rest Haven pump is concerned," said Fire Chief Arthur Gardner, "and that is the fact that neither Rest Haven nor the Fire Brigade has any 2 1/2-inch hose to handle the volume of water for the pump."

Red Cross Lodge

It is a far cry from being head of a hectic wartime office in Ottawa to serving hospitalized veterans at the Red Cross Lodge at Shaughnessy, but Mrs. Frank Ross, C.B.E., finds that during her canteen shift she works as hard as she ever did in the Dominion's capital. As Phyllis Gregory Turner, former Rossland girl, she was Administrator of Fats and Oils for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board during war years. Now married to Frank Ross, well-known Canadian financier, she is living in Vancouver and is shown above on one of her shifts acting as waitress for two former air crew members of the R.C.A.F.

RED CROSS CANVASS NOW IN FULL SWING THROUGHOUT DIST.

With a substantial sum of money already collected and 18 canvassers out collecting, Major A. D. Macdonald, chairman of the local committee, is tabulating returns to date.

Thus far, official figures have not yet been released.

Basic principles under which the Red Cross operates, he points out, are as follows: "The improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

Queried as to why the Red Cross teach swimming and water safety for which the sum of $182,650 has been budgeted, it is explained that Canada still has over 1,000 drownings per year.

Through a nationwide program of swimming and water safety, Red Cross joins with other agencies in this field in an intensive effort to lower this high yearly drowning rate.

"WONDERLAND OF THE ISLAND" Winning Slogan Chosen In Commerce Chamber Contest

Knights of Pythias in Sidney are still accepting donations to the Walter Jacobson fund which will help the family of the stricken lad in paying costs of his hospitalization.

Donations may also be made at the Review Office.

While the list has not appeared in these columns for the past two weeks, due to lack of space, acknowledgement of all donations will be made next week. The fund is now over the $1,500 mark. Costs continue, however, and the lad is reported to be gaining weight and strength.

A dance on Friday at the K.P. Hall, sponsored by the local K. P. Lodge will benefit the fund.

Joan Thomas Heads Women's Rec. Club

Joan Thomas was re-elected as president of the North Saanich Women's Recreational Club on Wednesday evening, at a meeting in Sidney.

Gwen Pearson was elected treasurer and Jean Griffith, auxiliary director.

A donation of $10 was authorized to the Walter Jacobson fund.

MRS. B. BATH HEADS LEGION W. AUXILIARY

Completing the slate of officers for the Saanich Peninsula branch of the Canadian Legion W.A. on Monday evening, in the Mills Rd. Hall, members elected Mrs. Bert Bath to the presidency of the group. Mrs. Garrard, Brentwood, was elected 1st vice-president.

A good attendance was registered and considerable discussion took place in an effort to better the social side of the work of the organization. It was stated by some that all work and no play did not tend to better attendance at meetings.

After many suggestions it was decided that a social afternoon be held early in April and an effort made to have all servicemen's wives present.

Volunteers to the T-B X-ray unit canvass were given instructions for the work.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the retiring president, Mrs. Philip Brethour. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served.

LEGION WELCOME NEW MEMBERS; REVISE BY-LAWS

Saanich Peninsula branch of the Canadian Legion endorsed a resolution of the Chamber of Commerce which sought adequate wharfage at Sidney for the Canadian and American ferries, at the regular meeting in the Mills Road Hall on Monday.

A film showing the simplicity of operation of the X-ray clinic, which visits the district next week, was shown to members, and J. Tindell, urged that every member take advantage of the clinic.

A delegate will represent the branch at the Provincial Convention at Vernon in May, he will be named at a later meeting.

Reports of the Dance, Entertainment and Membership committees were received and approved. Revised by-laws of the branch were read by W. Douglas, secretary of the branch. They will be published and made available to members.

J. Tindell brought up the subject of health insurance and requested that a discussion be held on the subject at a later meeting.

New members welcomed by the branch included: Louis H. Rintoul, Sidney; J. A. Laidlaw, Sidney; John L. Newton, Saanichton; Thos. McWhinnie, James Island and E. L. Clarke, Saanichton.

Investigate Air Freight Costs Of Bulbs and Flowers

Capt. C. F. Wilson, chairman of the Division of Agriculture of the Chamber of Commerce, reported on Tuesday evening to the executive of the Chamber of Commerce that steps were being taken to investigate methods of speedy transportation for bulbs and cut flowers to eastern Canada.

Foreseeing a bright future for this phase of agriculture in the district, Capt. Wilson stated that present air rates were too high. A comparison of costs showed that Dutch bulbs could be flown from Holland to eastern Canada at a lower cost than from B.C. to eastern Canada.

After an interview with Westinghouse Airways Ltd., he reported that figures were being prepared which would see local produce transported to Calgary by rail and picked up from that point by plane. The trip by air across the Rockies, said the airline officials, was costly. It was a danger also to the perishable produce in that the cargo might freeze in the high altitude.

Purchases Galiano Island Golf Links

The Galiano Island Golf Course, which was started in 1936 on a block of property known as Ellis Fields, and which was purchased by L. G. Denroche to be developed by the community as a golf course, has been re-purchased by Capt. Denroche.

The new owner intends to maintain the property as a golf course, and plans the construction of a club house and a modern residence on the course.

On Saturday Capt. Denroche returned home after visiting Vancouver. He brought with him a high-powered grass cutting machine which will be used to keep the fairways in trim.

Falls From Steps Of Sidney P.O.

Suffering a fall from the steps of the Sidney Post Office on Tuesday, Mrs. N. Gorton, Bazan Bay Road, is recovering from shock and awaiting the results of X-rays at Rest Haven hospital.

Health Committee Seek Full Cooperation On Chest Clinic

An appeal to all residents of North Saanich and James Island to take advantage of the free Mobile X-Ray unit which will be in Sidney on March 21, 22 and 24, was made this week by Miss Ruby Simpson, chairman of the health department.

A local committee set up to prepare for the first clinic to visit Sidney met on Friday to complete arrangements for a house-to-house canvass, clerical work and other details.

The travelling unit will be stationed at the School Board Office, the former Hostess House, on Third Street, on Friday, Saturday and Monday, March 21, 22 and 24. Appointments will be made from 9.30 to 11.30 a.m. and from 2 to 4.00 p.m. each day.

The committee point out that only one minute is required to take the X-ray picture. There is a minimum of inconvenience. It is not required that residents disrobe, care that metal suspenders or other metal objects are not worn is issued however. These will spoil the X-ray and make the test worthless.

It is also emphasized that those who have no appointment should call at the Health Centre when they will be "put through" between appointments. More than 30 people a minute may be handled by the unit, hence little waiting is anticipated.

The value of the free chest examination has been pointed out by medical men for many years. They emphasize the wisdom of the yearly check-up. If tuberculosis is present in the early stages the chances of complete recovery are excellent if treatment is started at once.

Extreme care is being made to ensure the utmost privacy in the return of the findings. Result of the examination is mailed to each person, direct from the medical centre where the negatives are examined.

SEEK FULL-TIME BANK FACILITIES FOR SIDNEY

The need for a full-time branch of the Bank of Montreal will be urged by the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce. A unanimous "aye" greeted a motion put by Geo. Baal that the services of the local bank be extended.

At present the bank operates on only two days in the week. The staff work at capacity and much waiting is entailed on the part of customers, according to Mr. Baal.

SUGAR RATION UP IN APRIL?

Hard-pressed North Saanich housewives were cheered this week when reports from Ottawa stated that the sugar ration may be increased by 14 per cent in April.

Most homes have felt the lack of sugar since the Christmas season, when much of the available ration was used for the traditional feast.

Urge Speed In Letting Contract For Wharf

Suffers Loss Of Kneecap

Mrs. Frank Butler, McTavish Road, met with an accident on Friday in a Victoria department store when a swing door struck her knee.

Removed to Jubilee hospital it was found necessary to remove the kneecap. She is reported to be resting as comfortably as possible.

J. C. Anderson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will urge that the Dominion government take immediate action on the letting of the contract for work to the approach and structure of the Sidney wharf.

It is now possible to obtain the materials, such as piling and lumber, although the piling will still have to be cross-tied.

"If the work is to benefit the tourist industry it must commence immediately," said Mr. Anderson this week.

Fruit Growers Hold 30th. Annual Meeting, Demand Is Excellent

APPRECIATED FOOD PARCEL

The following letter from France was received by Mrs. C. F. R. Dalton, "Akula" of the Sidney Wolf Cub Pack:

Dear Mrs. Dalton:

I must thank you very much for the wonderful cake that you and your Cubs sent so kindly to the Wolf Cubs of a Pack of my group. It is most kind of you and I should like to express my deep gratitude for this warm gesture of real Scout friendship. The Cubs have been delighted and absolutely excited to know that there are some Canadian Cubs thinking of them miles and miles away. They all have been deeply impressed by the cake and they gave a great howl in your honor.

You know how fond of your country we are in France. Canada is for us a real "sister country." We love Canada and Canadians. We shall never forget that thousands and thousands of

The 30th annual meeting of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, held in the Temperance Hall, Keating, on February 24, saw many new members in attendance.

Report for the 1946 season was presented by the manager, J. J. Young and satisfactory returns to fruit men were shown.

H. C. Oldfield, president, welcomed the new members and gave an encouraging report of the demand for the produce.

E. R. Henl, W. Radcliffe and Herb Young were elected as directors for two years.

R. W. Hamblett moved a hearty vote of thanks to the directors and executive.

Your boys, gave their lives for the freedom of our country. Canada is for the young French fellows a dream country and is for children.

To Postpone Construction Of New Hospital At Ganges

Finances and Membership In Excellent Position

The postponed annual meeting of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital was held on Wednesday, March 5, at Mahon Hall, Ganges, with Gavin C. Mount in the chair.

The chairman's report showed the financial position to be satisfactory, remaining about the same as that of last year, except for the addition of a special grant of $1,000 from the Provincial government.

Receipts amounted to $15,322.32 expenditures to $14,163.67.

Patients admitted to the hospital during 1946 were 302, compared with 266 the previous year and there were 26 births. The total number of hospital days was 2,661, an average of 221 per month, the per capita cost being $5.95 per day, as against $4.34 in 1945. The number of subscribers has advanced and now stands at 740 adults and 107 children.

The incoming Board, to which the question of the possibility of building a new hospital was left at last year's annual meeting, has felt that the time is not yet opportune to embark on so large an undertaking.

G. Baal Gives Review Of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, One Of The Oldest Sciences

George Baal, pharmaceutical chemist, outlined the history of his profession in a "Vocation Talk" at the Rotary Club dinner on Wednesday.

The first prescription recorded, said Mr. Baal, was for: "pure myrrh, 500 shekels; sweet cinnamon, 250 shekels; sweet enclamus, 200 shekels . . . the whole prescription, an ointment, is contained in the Bible, Exodus, chapter 30, verses 22-25."

As the ointment was the equivalent of 15 pounds, the order was a large one, said the speaker.

Telling of the requirements of the modern pharmacy student he explained that in order to obtain a high standard, examinations were very stiff, a wide variety of subjects must be mastered.

Formerly a school teacher, Mr. Baal told of his ambition to do research work in chemistry. This led to his study and apprenticeship in the drug store. Following a course at the University of Saskatchewan, he became a pharmaceutical chemist, wrote examinations for British Columbia, then purchased the store in Sidney.

During the years he also obtained his degree in Psychology and also taught in London, Eng., schools.

A native of Jersey, in the Channel Islands, Mr. Baal first became interested in chemistry there.

Explaining that pharmacy was one of the oldest professions, he quoted St. Augustine, who said: "All diseases of Christians are to be ascribed to Demons. Chiefly do they torment the flesh baptized, yea, even the guiltless newborn infant."

To prevent this descent of wrath, the people could pray and make sacrifice, but they were not to resort to the magic charms which even ancient magicians had seen used in Egypt.

One of the first books of medicines was drawn up in the 9th century at Salerno, it was known as the Antidotarium.

The name Pharmacopoeia was applied to the book later, from the Greek meaning Pharmakon (drug) and Copoeia (I make).

Many strange materials were listed in this volume, including: powdered frogskins, snails, dried and powdered. Powdered bird lime, the saliva of crocodiles.

Today, said the speaker, almost every country has its own Pharmacopoeia. The one in use in the British Empire, including Canada is noted as the pharmacists' "Bible."

As new preparations come on the market and prove their merit, they are included in the book which is revised every ten years by a committee of pharmacists.

SUGGESTS IRRIGATION AS PLAN FOR PROVINCIAL PARTICIPATION

Byron (Boss) Johnson, Coalition member for New Westminster, suggested to the Legislature last week that the province commence an irrigation policy at once.

Impressed with what he saw in the farm lands of Washington, Mr. Johnson suggested that the House "get cracking" on the project.

He pointed to the success of the irrigation scheme at Oliver, B.C., formerly barren land, the district is now a leader in fruit production in the Okanagan Valley.

The need for a sound irrigation policy was apparent in many parts of the province, said the member.

If the Saanich Peninsula had irrigation it would produce bigger and better loganberries, he said.

"We should move now on this irrigation business just as we should on new highways," he said.

Sharp Contrasts In World Diets

The third quarterly world food appraisal for 1946-47 by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, of which Sir John Boyd Orr is the Director-General, reveals sharp contrasts. While famine conditions have prevailed for many months over wide areas of China and many people in Europe are living on a diet of 1,500 calories or less, people in food-exporting countries are consuming as much food as before the war, or more. Consumption per person in the United States, for example, surpasses last year's record. On the other hand, there are countries in which calories available per person are as low as 60 per cent of pre-war.

Gives Review Of Pharmaceutical Chemistry and medical men appointed by the government.

The book at present contains a description of some 1,300 official drugs and preparations, said Mr. Baal. The student for the degree in pharmacy has to memorize these along with some 2,000 not official. The pharmacist is also expected to know what they contain; their proper names, how they are obtained, from whence they come, medicinal properties, solubility, alkaloidal content, their incompatibilities (that is the drugs they cannot be mixed with), and above all their dosage and their antidotes.

No longer does the modern druggist make up his pills, most are purchased and are encased in the new gelatine capsules. In former days many ointments and pills were compounded by the druggist. The average rural drug store, said Mr. Baal, carries in its dispensary some 1,800 or 2,000 different drugs, pills and preparations. The number is increasing every day as new preparations appear on the market.

Mr. Baal paid tribute to the famous makers of pharmaceutical products who maintained their own laboratories and chemists. "These famous firms are doing pioneer work in the field of medicine," he said.

He deplored the duplication in the field, however, saying that it caused "perhaps the greatest headache the druggist has to endure."

He told of the sound progressive firm pioneering, in conjunction with the medical profession, in the production of a new drug, only to have a cheap imitation of that drug appear under another name.

"It is perhaps not generally known that if a doctor makes a mistake in writing a prescription and the druggist fills it according to the doctor's directions, the druggist and not the doctor is to blame should anything serious happen to the patient."

Mr. Baal related an incident when verification of the prescription saved a life in the compounding of a prescription.

The strict check-up on poisons and narcotics were religiously observed by the pharmacist, said the speaker. A list of some 80 narcotics cannot be sold without a prescription, he said.

Explaining how the modern lunch counter appeared in drug stores, he told of how, in the early days, the druggist made a carbonated beverage. This was sold and taken home. Later, druggists made it possible for the customer to drink the beverage in the store. From this custom the lunch counter has evolved.

The developing of films, in the early days of the camera, was always done by the chemist. Thus it is today that films are still taken to drug stores to be developed and printed, although the work is seldom done on the premises any longer.

The dispensary is the least profitable department of the average drug store, due to the large number of items which must be carried.

Thus it is that sidelines must be carried to obtain the necessary turnover of stock which makes a business pay.

Mr. Baal passed several slips of paper around the room each containing a note, hardly decipherable, which he had collected in his store. "These will give you some idea of the peculiar requests which a drug store gets . . . and the druggist is supposed to know what they mean."

One of these read: "1 bottle skylark lotion . . . 1 comb for lice."

The first lot was interpreted by Mr. Baal, correctly, as Larkspur lotion.

Another read: "Suffering, what they use in stee sugar." This was filled with saccharine.

Mr. Baal, elated by expressing his satisfaction with the work. "It gives one a certain satisfaction when a customer thanks you for having recommended a certain kind of medicine or a certain treatment. There is even some satisfaction in having to get up in the middle of the night to fill a prescription or get a bottle of medicine for a sick baby," he said.

President Frank Stenton thanked the speaker.

TATLOW VALLEY NEWS AND BRIEFS

By D. Kynaston.

While at Kamloops, Bob Matthews learned of the death of a former neighbor, Fred Lamerton, at the Provincial Aged Men's Home. Mr. Lamerton, who came to the district in 1912, dug most of the early wells in Deep Cove. His soldierly bearing and jovial friendliness are well remembered characteristics of this fine old gentleman.

Mrs. D. Scott volunteered and is authorized to arrange for appointments and find transportation to the T.B. clinic in Sidney, March 21, 22, 24, for anyone over 15 in this district.

John Braithwaite celebrated his fifth birthday Thursday with a delicious green, yellow and pink cake. His guests were: Diana, Janet, Marion, Elaine, Ruby, Barbara.

In last week's Review we noted Townner's desire for more convenient mail boxes. Tatlow has a similar difficulty—12 families have to get their mail at the corner of West and Laurel Roads. Several parties must come more than half a mile. If it is impossible to obtain a handier service we would suggest a shelter with a heater for winter days. Then we could take our tea along while waiting for the mailman.

We're still playing "dodge" with the holes in the road but at least we don't get stuck in the gumbo.

Mrs. Mears, entertained at her home Tuesday. An interesting round-table discussion on Canada's future held the conversation during the afternoon.

Mrs. Kent, formerly of Laurel Road, is ill in hospital in Victoria.

Miss Moses has had two cows cathered installed at her gateways.

Food Export Policy Of Canada In War

In an article in Foreign Agriculture, writes on Canada's wartime Agricultural Export Policy, ranging through the administration of exports, export control, mutual aid, wartime changes in foreign markets, food commitments to Great Britain, contracts for non-food products to post-war trading.

The value of Canadian exports of farm products more than tripled in the six years from 1939 to 1945, he states. Exports were planned and new administrative machinery was established to facilitate the movements of farm products out of Canada. Wartime planning for Canadian exports of agricultural products covered not only the establishment of export quotas for materials in scarce supply but also a number of related policies which attempted to direct Canadian exports to particular destinations and areas.

The extent and detail of the planning were increased by the obligation on Canada's part to share a portion of the burden of supplying liberated areas in Europe and Africa. The whole program developed step by step as war shortages became more serious and extended to more and more commodities. In regard to mutual aid, the foods Canada sent out, other than to its troops, went to three groups of countries—the Allies, friendly or neutral nations, and re-occupied countries. Food transferred to any nation was sold under the usual terms of trade, or shipped under a billion-dollar gift, and later under the Mutual Aid Act.

The actual transfers to any country were usually on the basis of some form of agreement that outlined terms of sale or the terms of "Mutual Aid."

Expenditures from the Mutual Aid Appropriation on food supplies (excluding fish) sent overseas during April-March, 1943-44 to 1944-45, totalled $331,491,000 (Canadian). Of this, $289,201,000 covered foodstuffs sent to the United Kingdom, the largest item of which was bacon amounting to $133,751,000. The expenditure for foodstuffs sent to the USSR totalled $22,705,000, most of which was for shipments during 1944-45, largely of flour, lard, and wheat. Wheat to New Zealand represented $963,000, all of which was expended during 1944-45. For wheat, flour and seed potatoes sent to France, a total of $8,291,000 was reported; for wheat to India, $5,575,000; and for flour to the British West Indies, $4,756,000.

best ash, Pozzoli in Italy, comes to any material of high silica content which will combine with lime and water to form a cement. Today pozzolanas are widely used in a special type of concrete.

Because of the important economies and increased chemical resistance obtained by the use of pozzolanas in concrete, the Engineering Division of the British Columbia Research Council will investigate possible sources of the material in this province. Volcanoes now extinct have deposited ash over several areas in the interior. Certain types of smelter slag may also be used for a similar purpose. Several large slag piles exist at various points in B.C.

Pozzolanas may effect important savings by replacing up to one half of the cement in concrete. Because it requires a long wet curing time and develops full strength slowly, this type of concrete is not used in the construction of buildings and similar thin walled structures. But its low cost and superior resistance to acid or sulphate waters make it particularly valuable for dams, tunnel linings and massive sections where the concrete will remain moist during the curing period.

COLOR PLAYS IMPORTANT ROLE IN PSYCHOLOGY

The story of London's Blackfriars Bridge vividly illustrates the principles of color psychology. A gloomy, black structure, so many people committed suicide from it that it became known as "Suicide Bridge." London's authorities wisely called in a color expert. On his advice the bridge was painted bright green. Suicides decreased immediately.

An extreme case, but the principle applies in all types of painting.

Here's a case a little closer to home. It shows how color works on the human system without people being aware of it.

A cafeteria in an industrial plant, which originally had walls of a neutral gray, was painted blue during an annual cleaning. Immediately complaints poured into the company office that the cafeteria was too cold, although plant engineers knew that the heat had remained constant. Orange was substituted for blue and the chairs were given orange covers. Employees then complained that the cafeteria was too hot, although the heat still remained the same. Color gave a physical reaction. Employees saw blue and felt cold; they saw orange and felt hot.

The problem, like most problems, was solved by compromise.

The orange chair covers were removed and everyone said that the heating system was back to normal again.

It is obvious from these cases that color can and does play an important part in our emotional and physical life, though most of the time we aren't conscious of it.

And since color can have such fundamental effects, the color scheme of your home is important. The tones of your breakfast nook can make you a cheery morning riser or start the day badly for you. The color of your living room can finish the day restfully for you or leave you a bundle of nerves at bedtime.

Here is the way colors stack up emotionally.

Warm and cheerful colors are red, orange, yellow, brown, tan, cream, ivory, rose, pink, and some warm greys and yellow-greens.

Cool colors are blue, grey, green, violet, purple, white and blue-green.

Restful colors include the browns, olives, grey-greens, tans, warm greys and certain blues.

Exciting and sometimes irritating colors are high red, bright orange, brilliant yellow, bright blue, terra cotta, emerald green.

Of course, the effect of these colors is relative. Balance may be obtained by using combinations of types, or by using complementary colors between the passive shades and the active shades.

If you are going to spend time painting up your home, keep color psychology in mind. Properly selected colors in your house will soothe frayed tempers, induce gaiety in the games room, sleep in the bedroom and good digestion in the dining room.

Dishes Mother Used To Make

Food habits and tastes are developed at an early age and invariably remain with us through life. This accounts for the exclamation we hear so frequently, "That's just like mother used to make." Such dishes recall old familiar flavors, along with associations of other days. These contribute to the enjoyment of the food served.

Dishes like mother used to make are the constant chagrin of the newly-married homemaker. Often through lack of experience and a faulty technique her efforts to recapture for her husband the flavor and aroma of these dishes prove most disappointing. With rationing, a few of these all-time favorites, such as apple pie, doughnuts and his favorite cake, piled high with frosting, are for the present, less frequently a bone of contention.

However, it is to any bride's advantage at all times to be able to quickly mix up light, fluffy tea biscuits. One the basic recipe has been mastered, it may be adapted to a great variety of variations—e.g., good dumplings are made by following the basic recipe, with the addition of more liquid . . . approximately 1 cup liquid to 2 cups flour. This gives a stiff batter that may be dropped by spoonfuls either as dumplings or the topping for meat pies. It was also from the standard tea biscuit recipe that mother used to make roly-poly and those delicious tea cakes. If the roly-poly was to be served as the main course for luncheon or dinner the filling was either well-seasoned meat or fish, while for the dessert course the filling was fresh fruits in summer and jam in winter.

A lot of baked beans will regain the culinary charms of mother's kitchen. Her secret of success lay in the slow cooking of the beans until tender, then the addition of various seasonings and finally a long, slow baking to develop that tantalizing flavor and aroma.

For the perfect treat the baked beans were always served with fresh home-made bread. The sponge for this bread was set the night before, but the same appetite before may now be achieved in a few short hours by the use of the new, fast-rising dry yeast.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest these old favorites, to help you turn back the pages of time.

THE WISDOM OF CONFUCIUS
Interpreted by Lin Yutang.

Confucius taught concerning four things: Literature, human conduct, being one's true self and honesty in social relationships.
He denounced four things: Arbitrariness of opinions, dogmatism, narrow-mindedness and egotism.

Absolute truth is indestructible.
Being indestructible, it is eternal.
Being eternal, it is self-existent.
Being self-existent, it is infinite.
Being infinite, it is vast and deep.
Being vast and deep it is transcendental and intelligent. It is because it is vast and deep that it contains all existence. It is because it is transcendental and intelligent that it embraces all existence. It is because it is infinite and eternal that it fulfills or per-fects all existence. In vastness and depth it is like the earth.
In transcendental intelligence it is like heaven. Infinite and eternal, it is the infinite itself.

Only after knowing the goal of perfection where one should dwell, can one have a definite purpose in life can one achieve calmness of mind. Only after having achieved calmness of mind, can one have peaceful repose.
Only after having peaceful repose can one begin to think. Only after one has learned to think,
can one achieve knowledge.
There is a foundation and a superstructure in the constitution of things, a beginning and an end in the course of events. Therefore to know the proper sequence or relative order of things is the beginning of wisdom.

True man lives out the tenor of his life, calmly waiting for the appointment of God, whereas the vulgar person takes to dangerous courses—expecting the uncertain chances of luck.

Those who never retract their opinions love themselves more than they love the truth.

BE A PARTNER IN THE CRUSADE

THE Mobile X-Ray Unit of the division of Tuberculosis Control will visit this district next week. The authorities are making an effort to wipe out Tuberculosis, and the utmost co-operation of all who live in the district is necessary. The service is free, and is provided in part by the sale of T-B Seals. It is the most effective method of discovering the disease. The actual X-ray takes less than a minute, and it is not necessary to sit to the waist.

It is the duty of every citizen to take advantage of this free service. Much thought, effort and expense has been put into the campaign. A lukewarm response by those who only stand to gain will not only be a bitter disappointment to the division, but a severe setback to progressive medical treatment. The prevention of illness is becoming more and more emphasized in modern practice.

It is a sound premise and one that we should all support. Tuberculosis is not inherited, it is infectious. It is a dread illness which takes a mighty toll of the youth of the land. Each year, it is hoped that the Mobile Unit will visit the district, and each year everyone should have a chest X-ray.

This new departure in medical preventative measures is very new. Sidney and the Gulf Islands will be among the first districts to be examined. The Review urges all to take the time to have the X-ray survey, and thus ensure the success of the campaign.

The Travelling Unit will be on Salt Spring Island from March 17 to March 20 inclusive. March 21, 22, and 24, the unit will be in Sidney. Be a partner in this crusade to wipe out Tuberculosis.

SIDNEY POLICE COURT

SOME of the most sublime creations in the world of architecture have been erected as Courts of Justice. It is fitting and right that these buildings should embody strength of character and purity of line. Materials used in their construction, stone and marble, invariable strength the beauty of these edifices and make them so purposeful, so fitting.

To view the structure maintained by the Provincial Government in Sidney for the dispensation of justice is to receive a shock. Hopelessly inadequate, with no privacy for prisoner, judge or counsel. The building is shameful as a public building, and can but do harm to the cause for which it is used.

It is to be hoped that one of the first projects the Provincial government will undertake is the erection of an adequate Court House building for North Saanich.

While excellent policing is made possible by the Provincial body, the housing of their officers here lessens their effectiveness.

This summer thousands of tourists will pass through Sidney from the United States and from the Dominion. In many cases the first impression of Canada will be gained by what they see in Sidney.

By no stretch of the imagination may we call the Police Court building here "quaint," but that would be its only excuse. It is downright ugly, inadequate and not fit for the purpose for which it is used.

MRS. STOREY PASSES

THE sympathy of the community goes this week to James Storey, long-time resident of Sidney, who suffered the loss of his wife on Monday.

Mrs. Storey, a resident here for 37 years will be sadly missed. Her work in Red Cross and other community activities was vigorous and sincere . . . through two wars and in the intervals of peace.

"Jim" Storey, a famous figure at many a community gathering, whose biting repartee has always been replied upon to safely express the opposition, has lived in Sidney for 42 years.

His loss will be shared by the entire community, and the Review joins with all in expressing heartfelt sympathy to this well-loved resident.

OUT OF THE MIST

By KIPPER.

GOZINTERS AND THINGS . . .

"Way I've figured it out the pulley should be 4 1/2 inches." It was Joe Musculon in the Review composing room. The staff were pouring (Hm . . . hardly the term) . . . were pondering over one of the many problems which confront them in their hoped-for move to new quarters.

"Hm," said Jim, brows wrinkled, "if the revolution per minute was 1,800 . . . mmmmm."

"Let's hop over and ask Art," said Joe. Arthur Gardner and Chet Levar having the respect of the assembled group in such matters, a migration was made across the street to the machine shop.

The door was opened and through a thick haze of smoke a group could be seen squinting about a monstrous piece of machinery, all were wrapped in thought.

"Way I've figured it . . ." a subdued voice spoke, others joined in. Silently we left, murmuring in deepest sympathy that similar problems were on hand in that quarter.

THE SLOGAN IS BORN

Out of the many entrants to the Community slogan contest, the best, though not from a publicity point of view, was that submitted by a bright child. Impressed with the scope of recent health measures in the district, the following was brought forth:

"SIDNEY IS HAVING THE GREATEST PIN-WORM TEST IN ALL THE DOMINION'S GREAT WIDE WEST."

STANDING COM. TO AGROLOGISTS HEAR OPPOSITION

Capt. C. R. Wilson, chairman of the Agricultural Division of the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce, spoke recently at a hearing of the standing committee on agriculture appointed by the Legislature.

Capt. Wilson spoke at length on his groups opposition to the proposed bill which would professionalize the practice of agrology. He claimed that the bill, if passed, would lead to a weakening of governmental authority, giving to the proposed council of agrologists powers that should rightly belong only to the government.

He claimed that if the bill went through, every member of the Department of Agriculture would have to be a member of the association and the minister would be a rubber stamp.

"The association was not a provincial, but a Dominion organization, controlled from the East, 'The Agricultural Institute.' According to paragraph 1 of their

CUB LEADERS WANTED HERE

An appeal was made this week by Mrs. C. F. R. Dalton for leaders for Cub work in the Boy Scout movement.

Advice received from Field Commissioner Freeman King states that no more boys can be enrolled until more leaders come forward.

At present there are 31 Cubs with only one leader and one assistant. As a full Pack consist of 24 Cubs, the need for leaders is shown in the Sidney Pack.

bye-laws, only graduates can be members," he said.

Capt. Wilson pointed out that it would be a Union Quoted Shop in the extreme. He quoted Paragraph 6, sub-paragraph B, of the proposed Act, where, he claimed, a farmer's son might pass academic examinations set by the Senate of the U.B.C., but the Council of the Institute of Agrologists (ten men) could veto and reject him.

"And prevent him under fine and forfeiture of salary from enjoying the well-salaried, comfortable and secure positions of the Civil Service or private corporations.

"They will tell you," he said, "that by-laws will have to be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. We as taxpayers don't want government by order-in-council. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council in this case means the Department of Agriculture, but under this bill every member of the department would have to be a member of the institute, which consequently, would control the department."

The hearings will continue.

CORRESPONDENCE

MAJORITY WANTED WEDNESDAY

Mr. Editor:—It is my desire to correct a statement made in The Review last week regarding the vote taken one year ago to change the closing day of Sidney stores.

You stated that Monday was favored by the majority. This is entirely wrong; the vote taken indicated that the majority favored a half-day in the middle of the week.

Even though the above was indicated the minority still kept the half-day as it was.

Yours sincerely,

"The World's All Right"

The World's all right; serene I sit,
And cease to puzzle over it.
There's much that's mighty strange, no doubt,
But Nature knows what she's about;
And in a million years or so
We'll know more than today we know.
Old Evolution's under way—
What ho! the World's all right, I say.

Just try to get the Cosmic touch.
The sense that "you" don't matter much.
A million stars are in the sky;
A million planets plunge and die;
A million million men are sped;
A million million wait ahead.
Each plays his part and has his day—
What ho! the World's all right, I say.

Just try to get the Chemic view:
A million million lives made "you."
In lives a million you will be Immortal down Eternity;
Immortal on this earth to range,
With never death, but ever change.
You always were, and will be aye—
What ho! the World's all right, I say.

And though it's written from the start,
Just act your best your little part.
Just be as happy as you can,
And serve your kind, and die—a man.
Just live the good that in you lies,
And seek no guerdon of the skies;
Just make your Heaven here, today—
What ho! the World's all right, I say.

The World's all right; serene I sit,
And joy that I am part of it;
And put my trust in Nature's plan,
And try to aid her all I can;
Content to pass, if in my place
I've served the uplift of the Race.
Truth! Beauty! Love! O Radiant Day—
What ho! the World's all right, I say.

Special to The Review.

British Columbians living on both the urban and rural sections of the province heard good news from the provincial legislature last week when Works Minister E. C. Carson spoke during the budget debate.

Mr. Carson outlined a four-point public works program in which $25,000,000 would be used during the 1947-48 fiscal year and part of the 1948-49 fiscal year for road building, bridge replacement, road hard-surfacing and public buildings.

Hardly a section of the province was forgotten in the Public Works Minister's program, the largest ever undertaken by the province.

Resides new roads and bridges and public buildings the best news in the speech for residents of the interior or the province was the announcement that tolls on the Cariboo Highway had been abolished.

Up-country members of the legislature had long urged this action. Mr. Carson said the tolls, presently suspended for the winter, would never be reimposed again. This means a saving to an estimated 50,000 motorists of $120,000.

Mr. Carson listed more than 60 bridges which are slated for replacement at a cost estimated at $3,154,000. The legislature had already been told the $5,000,000 would be borrowed for bridge replacement.

He also listed 44 major projects of road reconstruction, totaling a total of $6,191,000, $4,821,000 of which it is expected will be spent during the coming fiscal year. This will mean the rebuilding of 200 miles of highway.

The surfacing program calls for the laying of 125 miles of entirely new paving, resurfacing of 70 miles and flush coating 170 miles of existing highways. This will cost a total of $2,037,500, he said.

On various building projects the government expects to spend almost $8,000,000, he said.

His address was indeed welcome news in most parts of the province where road conditions have long been one of the chief sources of criticism of the present administration.

The budget debate continued all week in the house and found some more talk on liquor.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition member for Victoria, started the liquor talk going for the week with the suggestion that a plebiscite would be the best way to solve the current problem, which she claimed resulted from a lowering of accepted codes of behaviour and decline in moral standards, accelerated by the war.

This, she said, was not only true in British Columbia but also elsewhere in the world.

Mrs. Hodges also asked that the provincial government make representations to the Dominion government for closer censorship of magazines, suggesting there was altogether too much undesirable literature for sale on newsstands.

J. H. Watson, C.C.F. fence rider, introduced legislation which, if adopted, would provide for classification of all movies as suitable for general consumption, suitable for adults and children accompanied by adults, and suitable only for adult consumption. He had introduced a similar bill last year and withdrawn it when the late Attorney-General R. L. Maitland had promised to study

Nunn's Giant Rose Creates Interest

Answering a challenge in the American Rose magazine George Nunn told of the Paul's Lemon Pillar rose which he grew some years ago and which measured nine inches across.
Enquiries from as far away as Chicago were received by the Sidney rose grower as to how to grow such large blooms.
One bloom of Mr. Nunn's, Mrs. Ambrose Ricardo, reached eight inches across and several of his Paul's Lemon Pillar roses measured 7 and 7 1/2 across.

Rest Haven Dorcas Continue Good Work

Work of the Rest Haven Dorcas Benevolent Society under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marion Reid, continues with the making of quilts and the shipment of used clean clothes to the needy in other lands. An appeal is made elsewhere in this issue for material.

Main objective of the group has been the gathering and mending of clothes and shipping overseas, during the year eight boxes were shipped to Finland. A total of 1384 articles were sent as well as needles, thread, pins, etc. The sum of $138 was also spent in relief work, famine relief $50, Christmas hampers $5 and shipping and other expenses.
All the parcels arrived safely and many letters of thanks received by the group, many of the recipients had nothing to wear except burlap and straw tied about their bodies.

the question of classification of movies.

C. W. Morrow, Coalition, North Okanagan, predicted that despite the government's intention to spend almost $9,000,000 a surplus of $10,000,000 would be realized during the 1947-48 fiscal year, largely the result of liquor profits. He wanted this surplus applied for debt reduction.

Trade and Industry Minister Leslie H. Eyres said that if experiments being conducted by the B.C. Research Council are successful it may be economically possible to convert B.C. softwoods, such as alder and hemlock, into hardwoods of superior in quality to anything on the market today.

B. I. Johnson, Coalition, New Westminster, said the government should appropriate $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 to irrigate more land, and said this could easily be paid back by revenues from the land.

A. C. Hope, Coalition, Delta, fearing the land could bear no more than ever increasing load of social services and education, suggested a retail sales tax be instituted.

J. H. Cates, Coalition, North Vancouver, urged the government purchase a ship for a sea-going Borstal school on which youthful criminals could be taken away from the environments that had made them criminals rather than sent to jails with hardened criminals.

Dr. F. W. Green, Coalition, Cranbrook, wanted a section of each hospital receiving provincial government aid set aside as a homey, comfy ward for chronic cases, such as arthritis and diabetes.
During the week only once did the house flare up. That was when Alan J. McDowell, Coalition, Vancouver Centre, reported the International Woodworkers of America union in B.C. was dominated by two Americans. Both Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch and Herbert Gargrave, C.C.F. Member, verbally jumped on Mr. McDowell, saying his statements were untrue. Mr. Gargrave was ordered to withdraw. Mr. Speaker Norman Whittaker's action was described by Mr. Winch as dictatorial. Mr.

Winch was ordered to withdraw. In a much more subdued tone, A. J. Turner, Vancouver East, C.C.F. member, the next day purposely started the whole discussion over again, only to have Mr. Speaker Whittaker rule that no member may describe a fellow member's remarks as mis-statements because it implied wilfulness. The C.C.F. tried to question this rule but were ruled out of order.

Ganges I.O.D.E. Appoint Delegates To Convention

The Ganges chapter I.O.D.E. met last Friday afternoon at Ganges Inn with the regent, Mrs. V. C. Best, in the chair.

It was stated that owing to the unavoidable delay in obtaining a special film, the date for Miles Acheson's forthcoming lecture could not yet be definitely decided on.

The official correspondence, concerning the cessation of the affiliation between I.O.D.E. and Guide Association and stressing the aspect of friendly relations between the two organizations, was read, also a letter from Mrs. Ryland New, National president, conveying good wishes.

The annual report of the local Guides was given.

The treasurer reported $76.45 in the general fund and $51.55 in post war fund. The ex-service personnel convenor stated that letters had been written to veterans in hospital and a present purchased for a newly arrived war bride, and the post war convenor, that she was getting a parcel ready for shipment to headquarters.

Mrs. W. M. Moutat was elected assistant secretary to the chapter and a subscription to the Gulf Islands hospital was paid in for a local resident.

Mrs. Best stated that she had joined the W.A. to the Canadian Legion and found the work of the I.O.D.E. and W.A. regarding veterans in some ways very similar, she then expressed the hope that there would be the friendliest co-operation between the two organizations.

The regent was appointed as delegate to attend the annual Provincial meeting in Vancouver, in April, which the standard bearer, Miss B. Beddis, will also attend. As the next meeting of the chapter falls on Good Friday it

URGES FULL USE OF CHEST CLINIC

Dear Sir:—May I through the medium of your paper make an appeal to all the residents of Salt Spring Island and adjacent islands regarding the Mobile T-B clinic that will be on Salt Spring March 17 to March 20 inclusive.

As most of you know this free chest X-ray is made possible by the sale of Christmas T-B seals and one of the many blessings that we are endowed with in British Columbia.

The P.T.A. hope that all children who have had their 14th birthday, nurses, teachers, store clerks, loggers, fishermen, farmers, grandparents and expectant mothers will take advantage of this survey and make it a great success.

This Unit can handle about 400 persons a day working two hours in the morning (10 a.m.-12 noon) and two hours in the afternoon (2 p.m.-4 p.m.). There is no stripping, the waist is stepped into the caravan, had in your survey card and in a matter of minutes the picture of your chest is taken. The technicians do ask that people be careful to see that there are no metallic buttons or zippers on chest clothing.

The Unit will be stationed outside the Fulford Community Hall on Monday, March 17, and in the Saltspring school grounds at Ganges on Tuesday, March 18 to Thursday, March 20, inclusive.

Within a month after the Mobile Unit has finished, the Travelling Clinic will be set up in the Lady Minto hospital for those whose chests appear suspicious so that a more detailed picture can be taken. To these people a note will be mailed notifying them to attend this Travelling Clinic.

This is such a wonderful opportunity for each and every one of us to help stamp out the dreaded disease—Tuberculosis—and make sure our community is T-B free, that the P.T.A. is looking forward to a very successful survey and counting on You and You and You to do your part.

(Mrs.) W. L. ROGERS,
Health Convenor, Salt Spring P.T.A.

was arranged to advance the date to Tuesday, April 1.
Tea hostess for the afternoon were Mrs. J. C. Kingsbury and Miss Helen Dean.

The Sidney Troop met as usual at the Scout Hall on Friday. There was a full attendance. Antelopes won the patrol game of dodge ball. On Saturday the Troop hiked up to John Dean Park, and 2nd class tests were conducted. Fisher passed his 2nd class lashing and tree identification.

CUB NEWS

The Pack met on Friday with 27 Cubs present. The Red Six were top scorers for the evening. Knotting instruction was given. Mr. Connor paid the Pack a visit, and gave a hand with games. A letter received from France acknowledging with grateful thanks the Christmas cake sent by the Pack, was read by Akela. Good hunting!

Alfalfa — How To Obtain a Good Stand

As a fodder plant for Vancouver Island, alfalfa has no peer. Its ability to produce green herbage during the long dry summer, the high value of its protein and mineral content and its power to build up the nitrogen content of the soil place it in a class by itself, says C. E. Jeffrey, Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton.

To ensure a good stand, alfalfa should be sown on land which is naturally well drained. It will not survive on land which becomes water logged in winter and early spring. Alfalfa should not be sown on newly cleared land or on freshly plowed sod. Large quantities of raw sod are a hindrance to tillage and have a drying influence on the soil. Grain followed by a hoed crop should precede alfalfa on new land.

The preparation of the soil is of the greatest importance. The land should be plowed in the fall or very early spring. It should be plowed contour wise to check erosion. In March, as soon as the plowing is in fit condition, it should be disced, care being taken to fill the dead furrows, and then harrowed at frequent intervals to destroy all weed growth and maintain soil moisture for the successful germination of the seed. Just before seeding time the land should be rolled to provide a firm seed-bed. The seed may be sown broadcast with a cyclone seeder or it can be sown from the grass seed attachment on the ordinary grain drill. If neither of these are at hand mix the seed with twice its weight of cracked wheat and sow through the grain sputters of drill, with the indicator set to sow one bushel of wheat per acre. Do not sow deeper than one half inch. After seeding give a light harrowing to break the crust of the rolling.

Grimm is recommended as the best variety of alfalfa to grow. Sow only seed of the highest quality, using 15 to 20 pounds per acre. When seeding on areas which have not previously grown alfalfa, inoculation is essential to successful establishment and healthy growth. Sow alone. A nurse crop robs the young plants of much needed moisture and whole stands have often perished from this cause during period of drought.

The first week in May has been found to be the best time to sow the seed. Seeding at this date allows ample time for the preceding cultivation so necessary for weed control. Despite this cultivation weeds will appear in the stand but they can be kept in check by mowing from time to time. The cutter-bar of the mower must be set at its full height to prevent injury to the crowns of the young alfalfa plants. If mowed often the cut material may be left on the ground as a mulch but if the swath is thick it should be removed to prevent smothering the young plants. Pasturing during the first year is injurious; the tramping and grazing is apt to weaken or destroy many plants.

A good stand of alfalfa will last for many years and will fully compensate those who give a little thought and care to its establishment.

Variety For Lenten Meals

Every homemaker treasures recipes for meatless dishes, which may be served with equal satisfaction either as the main course for dinner or as a luncheon or supper dish. These recipes are welcomed the year around, but particularly so during the Lenten season.

When cooked with imagination, such foods as milk, eggs, cheese, beans and lentils create hearty main dishes, long on flavour, high in food value and thrifty in materials. They never need be dull and uninteresting. Milk, eggs and cheese are high-grade protein foods, which should be used generously in substantial soups, sauces, souffles and casserole dishes. Combine these foods preferably with those of a starchy nature such as, bread, macaroni, noodles or potatoes. Beans also are hard to beat as a satisfying main dish.

Your best chili sauce, catsup, sweet chopped relishes or snappy mustard pickle will give that pick-me-up to rather bland dishes such as scrambled eggs and plain omelet.

Serve macaroni and cheese, souffles, etc., with a crisp, tossed salad to give that needed contrast in texture.

The home economists, Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer these praiseworthy recipes, rich in flavor and packed with nourishment.

BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS FREE TO ALL

GIVE to make this possible

• To save the lives of our Canadian fighting-men in action during the war, thousands of Canadian civilians gave their blood to the Red Cross. But in peace, too, Canadians die when a blood transfusion would save them. Whole blood and plasma are in short supply... in some parts of Canada there are no facilities at all for an emergency transfusion.

In order to save the lives of Canadian men, women and children, the Red Cross is establishing a Civilian Blood Transfusion Service. By a system of voluntary blood donations, the Red Cross will supply every hospital in Canada with whole blood and plasma. Any patient in need of a transfusion will receive one, free of charge.

Your help is needed to support this and other valuable Red Cross services. The Red Cross needs money... your money. Money to maintain Outpost Hospitals... to help correct the deformities of little crippled children... to maintain Red Cross Lodges, where next-of-kin of disabled veterans may visit their loved ones... to bring relief in time of disaster. All these things the Red Cross does... won't you help them keep up the good work?

Do you think it would be anxious to "make friends" with Canadian Rovers. In order to help you I give you my "charac-

I am 23 years old, I study laws finishing my second degree this year and I am studying to be a doctor of laws. I entered Scout-

Assistant District Commissioner for Scouts for 3 years but I had to give it up because I have too much work to do. So, I am now like reading but travelling is my chief interest. I like sports (swimming, tennis). And as I told you, in Scouting my hobby is International Scouting.

This summer we shall have the "World Jamboree" in France not far from home (about 20 miles) and we are looking forward very much to the month of August, when we are able to welcome hundreds and hundreds of Scouts from all over the world.

Well, I do hope you will be able to find a pen-pal for me. I am very sorry for asking you this, but I feel sure that you will do your best.

I do thank you once more for the lovely present and the nice letter you sent to our Cubs. It was grand. I do hope to be able to go to Canada one day and to thank your Cubs for saving pen-their brother Cubs in France.

My very best wishes to the
